

PELHAM, N. H.

Daniel P. Atwood, Prominent in the Community, Dead—Was Former Postmaster.

Pelham, N. H., July 10.

Daniel P. Atwood, a life-long resident of this town, died at his home yesterday morning after a long illness, aged 65 years, 4 months and 16 days. He was highly respected by his townspeople, prominent in grange affairs during his active life and associated in Odd Fellowship and with the U. O. P. F. before disbandment. He was postmaster of Pelham for four years, at the time of his association, in partnership with Frank M. Woodbury in business, for whom he had previously clerked. Resigning, he afterwards engaged in the provision business on his own account. He served the town in the capacity of town clerk for about nine years and on the board of selectmen for a term. During recent years he was associated with the Massachusetts Northeastern Street Railway Co., but active service was finally discontinued owing to declining health. Besides his wife, Emma M. Atwood he leaves one son, Arthur P. Atwood of Lowell, Mass.

Charles W. Hobbs has been appointed town clerk to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Daniel P. Atwood
