

PELHAM, N. H.

Borjes, Lowell Violinist, Performs at Old Home Day Celebration.

Pelham, N. H., Aug. 10.

The Old Home day celebration held yesterday at Pelham for the benefit of Pelham Congregational church bring to attention the following selections by the writer in a hurried run-up of the day's program.

Violin selections by Hans Borjes, during the progress of the concert, have been repeatedly mentioned as highly important and much appreciated. He played two

Also, the spirit dances by Miss Virginia Worden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Worden, with striking features, making a hit with the audience. There was a ballroom and a tap dance, and the Miss Worden was most charmingly costumed. She sang and then danced "Underneath the Harlem Moon," with her mother as accompanist. A piano solo, "Fairest Lord Jesus," by Rev. Claude E. Adams was an excellent contribution.

During the course of the day it is estimated that the attendance was about 800. Nearly 300 were provided dinner at the church vestry.

A son, Daniel S. Atwood jr., was born yesterday at Lowell General Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel S. Atwood of Pelham Centre.

Adolph S. Batchelder of Waltham, Mass., is visiting at the old Batchelder homestead, now occupied by his relatives, Milan and Miss Jennie Stickney.

Miss Alice G. Stickney of Boston, Mass., is also enjoying a vacation at this, her former home.

Mrs. Ida B. Simpson is recovering from a recent operation at the Pelham County hospital.

Mrs. Gertrude H. Currier suffered a severe fall about a week ago, is well on the road to recovery.

The two cases of scarlet fever in the John Sexton family in Pelham have placed the family in quarantine. Both children are doing well.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Genoter of Detroit, Mich., are visiting in Pelham and relatives in town. They will remain here until Sept. 1.