

PELHAM, March 25—On Thursday a car stolen last Saturday afternoon, while parked in Lowell, was discovered in a parking space in Boston, locked and not damaged in any way. However, the gas tank was practically empty and two articles of merchandise purchased prior to parking were missing. The key to the door and ignition was removed from the key ring holding other important keys and the auto carefully locked throughout by the ones who evidently appreciated the use of a good car. In fact everything was left in such good shape that the owner, W. Brown, of this town, says that he really expects the return of the only missing key, by mail, some day.

Miss Eleanor H. Penzari, daughter of Antonio Penzari of Quincy, and Wilmer L. Paquette, torpedoman 3-c, of this town, were married March 5 at St. Joseph's rectory, Quincy.

A wedding reception was held at Eagles hall immediately following the wedding.

The bride wore a heavy satin gown, princess style, with long train and veil. She carried white calla lilies. Her maid of honor, Miss Lenore Canali of Quincy, wore a gown of pink chiffon and carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers. The bridegroom and his attendant, Leo Pallizzot of Salem, were in uniform. The couple will reside in Fall River.

Staff Sergt. Arthur Steind sends greetings and kind regards to all his Pelham friends from "Somewhere in England."

Guy C. Staveley, Jr., is convalescing from an appendectomy performed at Lowell General hospital.

Lieut. Frank W. Atwood, U. S. M. S., (radio officer) after seven months service in the Mediterranean (North Africa to Italy) returned to the United States, March 9. Subsequently in Wakefield, he joined his wife, Mrs. Priscilla Vining Atwood and son, Frank, Jr. who was only three weeks old when he left. An indefinite furlough was cancelled March 20. Meantime he visited his parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Atwood and his many relatives and friends here.
