

Had Children in School For 31 Straight Years

PELHAM, N. H., Sept. 10—This town has one family that has done right by the district school. For the first term in 31 years Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Atwood have no children now attending the school as pupils. "Of course," Mr. Atwood says, "we have grandchildren there now and expect to have for a few more years."

Mr. and Mrs. Atwood were married in February, 1899. They have seven daughters and four sons living, and, strangely enough, seven granddaughters and four grandsons.

Harry is postmaster in Pelham—has been since he was appointed by Teddy Roosevelt in 1905; agent and operator of the Pelham Telephone Association, and owner and operator of the town's only general store. And he was town clerk until the government ruled that postmasters may not hold municipal office.
