Marriage of Mr. George E. Guy and Miss Carrie L. Bannister.

(Special Correspondence.)

Pelham, N. H., Nov. 3.—At 7 o'clock last evening the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Bannister was the scene of a very pretty home-wedding when Mr. George E. Guy and Miss Carrie L. Bannister were united in marriage by the Rev. Melvin J. Allen by the single ring service, witnessed by the relatives and a few intimate friends. The wedding march was played by Miss Edith Mills, who also furnished music during the ceremony. The bride was daintily attired in white muslin. Charles Henry Guy stood with the happy couple as best man, Miss Hannah Bannister as maid of honor and Miss Amy Pratt as bridesmaid, the Misses Helen Morris and Lillian Bannister acting as flower girls.

After the marriage the newly weds were whirled in an auto to Mr. Guy's residence, which had been prettily decorated with hemlock, evergreen and cut flowers, where the reception was held.

Seventy-five guests from Nashua, Lowell, Lawrence, Providence and this town were pleasantly entertained after being presented to the happy couple who were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Bannister, the bride's parents, Mrs. William Guy and Mr. Charles H. Guy of Providence, the bridegroom's step-mother and brother. Many valuable and useful gifts were presented. Mr. Joseph Bannister, Mr. John Bannister, Mr. Charles B. Stickney and Mr. John F. Hayes ushered. Light refreshments were served.

Late in the evening the newly married couple attempted to get away from their bevy of friends wishing to avoid if possible the usual after-ceremony part of such an affair, but the attempt had been anticipated by some of the wise ones who successfully held them up and administered all that was coming, in fact, making it exceedingly lively for the young couple for a short while. Finally at the pleasure of the company the newly weds were allowed to depart in peace, and taking the auto they made a quick trip to Lowell. They are now enjoying their honeymoon in Providence, R. I., Mr. Guy's former residence.
