PELHAM, N. H., Jan. 9.—On Saturday, Grange installation of officers started with a turkey dinner catered by George Harris, of Pelham. Nearly 200 attended the dinner and the public ceremony.

John E. Johnson, gatekeeper of the Mass. State Grange, was the installing officer and his suite included Mr. Stevens, as mahshal; Mrs. Helen Eriksen, Mrs. Estelle Pickard, and Mrs. Smith, soloist; Mrs. Johnson, as pianist.

The officers installed are as follows: Herbert Nystrom, master; Constance Swett, overseer; Emily Olofsson, lecturer; Hilda Peabody assistant lecturer; Harry Edwards, steward; Robert Young, assistant steward; Catherine Donovan, chaplain; Ernest Bigelow, treasurer; Florence Foisie, secretary; Shirley Horan, gatekeeper; Esta Nystrom, ceres; Helen Raymond, pomona; Helen Morris, lady assistant steward. Lovely corsages and a boutonnières were worn by all officers.

The retiring master, Kathleen Atwood, was decorated by Mr. Stevens, the marshal, with a past master's jewel.

Mrs. Mary Sherburne was presented with a lecturer's jewel. She has made it possible for the Grange to have a newspaper known as the "Broadcast," which was sent overseas to the servicemen. To make it a success and to carry on such a project meant an endless amount of work. Dancing was enjoyed by many and several tables of whist were played in the lower hall after the ceremony.
