

PELHAM, N. H.

Pelham, N. H., Jan. 26.

There has recently been hung in the Pelham Library a picture of Hon. Moody Hobbs, well remembered by the older residents of this town. He was a lifelong resident of Pelham, a school committeeman for over 30 years and a senator when the Senate consisted of only 12 members, and he was always conspicuous as a leader in public matters. The picture is the gift of Enoch M. Marsh, who several years ago donated an excellent portrait of Rev. Augustus Berry to the Public Library. These pictures are highly prized by the townspeople and will be more and more appreciated in the years to come. The loss of the oil portraits of Generals Richardson and Atwood in the fire that destroyed the town hall has always been deeply regretted.
