

PELHAM, N. H.

Pelham, N. H. July 20.

In connection with the National Red Cross "Learn to Swim" campaign, the Pelham Branch of the Nashua Chapter last week sponsored swimming and life saving lessons for the third year. The classes were conducted by Miss Anne McWeeney, an instructor from Nashua. A large group of boys and girls received instructions and were rewarded for their efforts with pins or badges, according to their ability. The Senior Life Saving tests were successfully passed by Frederick Garland, Harry H. Atwood, jr., and Phyllis Atwood. Those who won the rating of junior life savers were Franklin Garland, Charles Zolkos, Frank Atwood, Elmer Raymond, jr., Muriel Vining and Alan Guild.

Adolphe Batchelder of Waltham, Mass., is visiting his neice and nephew, Milan and Jennie Stickney of Stickney Hill for a few days.

Miss Esther Adams, formerly of this town, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Atwood for the past week.

Little Janet Hirsch, two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hirsch, died at their home Friday night, after a brief illness.

At State P.T. A.

Mrs. Noreen Brown, president of Pelham P.-T. A. and Miss Gertrude Cousins, vice-president, attended the state P.-T. A. Institute at the University of New Hampshire from Monday to Friday of last week. At the request of State President Mrs. Robert Crosby, Mrs. Brown participated in a panel discussion one feature of the week's program. The subject presented was "The Advantages of the P.-T. A. from a Teacher's Point of View." All parent-teachers' associations throughout the state were represented at the meeting.

Mrs. Alice Overlock and her neices, Martha and Dorothy, left today for Hampton Beach, where they will enjoy a two-week vacation.

Members of the Boy Scout Troop 25 are preparing to attend the State Jamboree at Hampton Beach this coming week.

The Misses Frances and Harriet Hobbs were hostesses to 17 of their friends and playmates at their joint birthday party last Wednesday afternoon.
