TRUSTEES' REPORT

Little need be said in our report for the year as we have no suggestions of importance to make and the Librarian's and Treasurer's reports contain all the essential facts concerning the library.

The library continues to be well patronized and everything pertaining to it seems to be in a satisfactory condition. Two installments of books have been purchased this year and we are in hopes to be able to add a few more in the spring. A larger appropriation enabling us to buy more books, would be greatly appreciated, but perhaps under existing conditions and considering the present high rate of taxation it would be unwise to ask it at this time.

Thanking those who have given aid to the library by the donation of book and magazines, and in other ways we respectfully submit this report.

HAROLD S. FROST,
SHERMAN HOBBS,
LENA A. KEZER,

Library Trustees.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

To the School Board of Pelham,

Gentlemen:

Herewith I submit my third annual report as superintendent of your schools and to it I have attached a report from the headmaster of your one year high school and one from your school nurse.

You have tried the experiment now for over half of a year of supporting a one year high school. There have been various misunderstandings and the school has not received the backing from the community that might have been hoped for. Nevertheless, I believe it has served to clarify and perhaps to unify opinion on the advisability of such a project. I believe that our experiences in the experiment will substantiate the following conclusions.

First, if Pelham is to continue to maintain any courses beyond those of a two year Junior High School, such school should receive the approval of the State Board. Unless the school is so approved, it has neither legal nor scholastic standing as a secondary school either in or out of the state. Pupils leaving it would be obliged to pass examinations in all secondary if not all elementary subjects before entering any secondary school in advanced standing, whether such school happened to be on this or the other side of the state line.

Second, that this school should offer courses that will enable pupils graduating from it to enter in advanced standing any of the popular courses in the high schools of Nashua, Lowell, Methuen, or elsewhere that it may be desirable for the pupils to attend. If you maintain such a school, it should increase rather than lessen the opportunities of your children. All parents do not wish their children to pursue the same course in the secondary school, nor is it desirable that they should do so. If our school does not offer subjects required for entering the desired course in advanced standing, the parent has no option but must patronize the secondary school of the neighboring city and be to the added expense of paying tuition charges. This condition ought not obtain out of fairness to both parent and pupil.

Third, that it should be the policy of the district to give full credit to such a school and not obligate itself after the present year to pay any tuition in any secondary school elsewhere for pupils attending a grade corresponding to that maintained in Pelham. The district would not be legally bound to pay any such tuitions and it should not obligate itself to do so out of fairness to the tax payers of the district.

Fourth, whether Pelham maintains a junior high school alone, or a junior high and one or two years of high school work in addition, until it supports a full secondary course, it should regulate the work of its schools in kind and in quantity so as to conform in a large degree with that in the school systems of our neighboring cities. To these schools the children will eventually go and they should not be handicapped by deficiencies in either subjects or amounts.

Of the seven teachers in your employ, four were on your pay roll last year and three are serving the district for the first time. This is a better showing than was the case in either of the two immediately preceding years. It has been my experience that permanency in the teaching force always results in increased efficiency. It should be your policy to exercise great care in the selection of your new teachers and then keep them as long as possible. I am still of the opinion that it should also be the policy of the board to hire teachers who will reside in the community.

It is of very vital importance for a town, situated as is Pelham, within easy access of several growing cities of considerable size, that it furnish school facilities which shall not suffer too badly from comparison with those of its neighbors. What a community offers for attractions is bound to determine the character of its incoming population. People interested in the education of their children will move to those communities only which furnish good schools. Pelham surely desires no other class of immigrants. I believe it is a good investment for the town to make generous appropriations for the maintenance of its school plant. I believe it is advisable to install a heating system and sanitary toilets in the new building, and that a certain sum should be spent yearly on the other five buildings for better toilets, better blackboards, better floors, and better heating apparatus.

Pelham, even under the new school law, draws a substantial sum from the state treasury. This year the allotment is $4,031.95. In other words, the state still guarantees the expense of the elementary schools after the appropriation of $5.00 per $1,000.00 of equalized valuation has been exhausted. In your budget submitted to the State Board, your estimate for books and supplies as well as for health activities should approximate the amount which the state will approve for these items. The amount allowed should then be expended for these purposes as economically as possible. There is no reason why your children should not be as generously supplied and receive as much care from the nurse or physician as other children in other towns in the state. You have to contribute your mite in your state tax to these items for all other state aided towns. Why not demand your share for yourself? Your children are as dear to the state as any others.

Attendance in our schools has been bad of late, and the schools have been closed often because of lack of attendance of either the teacher or the pupils in any considerable number. In as much as it is impossible to have a no-school signal, I believe it should be the policy of the board to keep all schools open on all school days for the instruction of any pupil who may attend, regardless of weather conditions.

The following is an extract from the general statistics for the school year of 1920-21.

Whole number of different schools maintained	6
Number of teaching positions	6
Changes during the year	1
Average annual salaries of the teachers	$782.50
Number of different pupils registered during the year	215
Average daily attendance in all schools	163
Average daily absence in all schools	23
Average membership in all schools	186
Per cent. of attendance	88

Enrollment of pupils by grade, grade I, 30; grade II, 27; grade III, 26; grade IV, 26; grade V, 26; grade VI, 22; grade VII, 29; grade VIII, 29.

Number of pupils not promoted at end of the year in grade I, 9; in grade II, 2; in grade III, 2; in grade IV, 5; in grade V, 1; in grade VI, 0; in grade VII, 12; in grade VIII, 7.

A casual study of these statistics shows the per cent. of attendance to be too small, and the number retarded in grades IV, VII, and VIII to be too large.

With an expression of appreciation for the courtesies shown me by the board and for the general consideration shown me by the public, this report is,

Respectfully submitted,

LOUIS DeWITT RECORD,
Supt. of Schools, Union No. 27

HIGH SCHOOL REPORT

To the Superintendent:

Dear Sir:

I herewith submit my report for the Pelham High School, for the year 1921-1922.

September fifteenth opened the first High School class held in Pelham with Miss Bertha Hooke and myself as teachers, under the supervision of Mr. Lewis DeWitt Record. There were eight High School pupils six of which had graduated this last year, one who had attended Lowell High School the previous year and one tuition pupil from Windham.

This school started because there were enough pupils being advanced to maintain a High School. And, as such is the case, there are many arguments for one. For, is it not better that the money of the people of Pelham be put into their town to better it than to send exorbitant tuition to a large city that neither needs the money nor wants outside pupils in their already over-crowded schools?

On October 26, 1921, we were honored by a visit from Deputy Commissioner Walter M. May, who inspected and later approved Pelham High School.

Of course, this High School is of necessity very closely connected with the Junior High School. As we only have two finished rooms in our new building (entered December 3, 1920) it is necessary to have two classes in one room, one study and one recitation class.

However, there are a great many things in favor of a small school. There is much more chance for personal help which means so much to the pupil. It is easy to see that a teacher would have greater interest in her pupils when she is with them all day and they are directly responsible to her, than when she has anywhere from two hundred to four hundred pupils coming to her once during the day. In the latter case she probably finds no time or reason to think of any one in particular who may need individual attention.

The course of study is not as varied as in larger schools but the most important subjects have been prescribed; namely, English, Mathematics, French, and History of Civilization.

The purpose of the English Course is: first, to graduate pupils able to speak, read and write English correctly; second, to give the child greater appreciation of literature for his own enjoyment as well as his education and third, to understand and talk intelligently on the principle topics of the day.

The course in Algebra has included a practical working knowledge of the fundamental principles with their application to problems of every day life.

The French course is a continuation of the French already taught in the Junior High School, wherein the child learns the larger principles of French grammar and becomes able to translate simple French stories fluently. In this way he learns appreciation of France and her literature.

The history department has been studying the History of Civilization and watching man's advancement through the Greek and Roman Empires. Stress has always been laid upon these peoples who have stood for democracy. Great effort has been made to link up the past with the present, and to install an appreciation of the art of the Greeks, the government of the Romans and the debts we owe the ancients for their achievements.

In larger schools quite frequently a child will choose the easiest and not the most helpful subjects. In later life, they are sure to regret this.

In our small school as in all the larger schools in the state we have some social events. Our first one November 19, 1921, was a bazaar and entertainment. It was held in the Town hall. During the time of preparation for for this event there was a great deal of show of proper school spirit. Extra work was done after school. All were willing and many remained after hours throughout a period of three weeks to make it a success. The net receipts amounted to one hundred and twenty-five dollars. We have used this for a piano and other school improvements..

The bazaar was very useful for motivating work in various lessons, for instance, in composition work, a child would put his whole mind on a composition entitled "My Table at Our Bazaar", or "How I Will Help My School". He likes to write about such things because it is something that he is doing, some vital thing in his life. Naturally then, he would make it better, more interesting and of his own intimate self when he wants us to see or do it his way.

In the case of drawing, would not any child ( or adult either, for that matter) rather do some work that they could see put into immediate use, than something that was simply practise for work they might sometime in the far away future desire to do? Hence, children like to make posters to tell of their sale, like to make boxes or baskets to hold their candy, and like to make all sorts of things to sell. In this way it carries their school work over to function in their home life and that is the highest ambition of all education.

At Christmas, we collected a box of clothes for the destitute children of Russia. A small sum of money was realized from an entertainment in the school house with the aid of Mrs Carleton's pupils. We also sold fifteen hundred Red Cross stamps. We had, too, our usual Christmas tree for the children of this school.

A student government is in effect in which the children elect their own officers and exercise their authority in the care of the school property. The honor system is encouraged.

In one corner of our room is a book-shelf made by the boys, where each child has brought a few of his personal books, so that other children may borrow and read. One child is librarian, and has charge of all these books. We also use the Town Library. The librarian, Miss Hobbs, has been so fine about procuring books that we enjoy and need, that practically every child in school takes books from there now.

During the year, two pupils dropped out of our High School to go to Methuen High School as it was cheaper and easier for them to reach. By going there, they save four hours more a day for sleep and study. One pupil left to go to work and another moved away.

In closing, I wish to say that we are grateful to the School Board for their help and cooperation and that I believe that the High School of Pelham could become a splendid organization if the money spent on tuition was used to improve local schools and the people of Pelham support it.

Very truly yours,

ABBEE F. WHITNEY
