

PELHAM, NEW HAMPSHIRE, GRAVESTONES

contributed by William T. Hayes¹

In March of this year, the Pelham Historical Society announced that they were moving into new quarters at the Old Pelham Public Library and were planning the most comprehensive local genealogy and history library collection in the state. Among the surviving documents kept in the new collection will be a transcription of all the gravestones in Pelham from 1720 through 1906, copied by Frances Hobbs, long-time Pelham librarian and historian.

There are six cemeteries in Pelham. Their full transcriptions will be serialized here and at some later date, a complete publication of the full set of six will be available from the Pelham Historical Society.
